ABSTRACT

This page is required for all graduate theses. An abstract is a short paragraph explaining the major points and conclusions of your thesis. For master's theses, the abstract can be no more than 150 words long.

The word, “ABSTRACT”, is centered at the top of the page, all caps.

The abstract presents an abbreviated account of the thesis including purpose, methodology, results and conclusions. It needs to be dense with information but also well-written, well-organized and self-contained, without references, abbreviations, acronyms, jargon, figures or tables. Abstracts may not exceed one page or 150 words.

Keywords: Include a list of up to eight keywords two lines below the last line of text in the abstract. Choice of these keywords is very important, as they will be used for the electronic indexing of your thesis.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Optional page, not to exceed one page in length.

The word, “ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS”, is centered at the top of the page, all caps.
